

MAKING SENSE OUT OF CREDIT CARDS & REWARDS

- Will reward programs continue to increase their impact on the credit card landscape?
- How are cardholders responding to the unprecedented pace of change in the payments space?
- How is duality impacting the Canadian credit card market?
- Why are cardholder attitudes critical to development of strong value propositions?
- Which credit cards are the "best in class"?

These are some of the questions that we will answer in Wave VI of CardSense™ – the most comprehensive assessment of the combined credit card and reward program market in Canada.

As new offers continue to be presented the Canadian credit card market is becoming increasingly competitive. Will consumers continue to respond or has the market become oversaturated?

CardSense™ provides an insightful exploration of the Canadian credit card and reward program market in a cost effective and timely manner.

WHY THIS STUDY?

In-depth analysis at the individual card level provides our subscribers with insights that will help them understand their competitive positioning to assist in the development of meaningful strategies to improve market share.

A detailed exploration of reward programs and the attitudes among participants will help you understand why cardholders choose to belong to one program over another, why they choose multiple programs, and how they decide to use one card over another at the point of sale.

METHOD

An online survey among 5,000 adult Canadian credit cardholders means the data are robust enough to provide most issuers with detailed results at the card level.

Early subscribers will have the opportunity to fine tune the base questionnaire content and have access to a limited number of proprietary questions which will be allocated on a first come, first served basis. Booster samples for low incidence target groups can be accommodated.

A unique feature of this offering is the ability to conduct "return to sample" research in an easy affordable way should subscribers identify a client group they wish to re-contact to collect additional information.

Cards to be evaluated will be dependent on a minimum sample size. Separate analyses of cards falling below the minimum sample size will be provided on request.

Specifically, this study will provide issuers with a picture of the Canadian credit card and reward program market, including the following:

1. THE FOUNDATION

- Credit Card Market Share
- Attitudes and behaviours towards credit cards
- Share of Wallet based on absolute dollar spend (Volumetrics) NEW!
- Cancellations/Acquisitions/Acquisition Intentions
- Brand Preference
- Cardholder Loyalty
- Attitudes towards Rewards Programs
- Reward Program Participation including hotel programs
- Factors impacting reward program participation
- Reward Program Engagement Index
- Redemption Behaviour
- Chip and Contactless Technologies
- Mobile Banking Apps NEW!
- Visa and MasterCard Debit NEW!
- Payment Methods
- Best in Class Credit cards as defined by those who carry them

2. ATTITUDINAL SEGMENTATION

Our segmentation is an essential tool for profiling cardholders and the beliefs that drive card usage.

We will answer questions such as...

- What do each of our segments look like?
- What percentage of your cardholders and your competitors' cardholders fall into each segment?
- Which segments are potentially the most profitable to your organization?
- Which products appeal to each segment?
- What marketing messages will resonate with each?

3. CUSTOM ANALYSES

We provide a custom analysis tailored to your card portfolio and position in the market. This can include further drill downs undertaken on a request basis on particular segments, proprietary questions or return to sample.

4. AFFLUENT CARDHOLDER REPORT

Affluent cardholders are an attractive segment, enjoying high levels of disposable income and displaying high engagement in credit card reward programs. We will examine in detail the attitudes and behaviours of this group including the cards they carry and the financial institutions they use to help you better attract and retain these valuable cardholders. This analysis will be drawn from the 5,000 interviews conducted among Canadian credit card holders.

5. PAYMENTS REPORT

Payment methods and devices continue to proliferate, challenging the spend traditionally captured by credit cards. Our payments module will examine the payment methods consumers use at different price points and in different retail categories. Understanding which cohorts are gravitating to different payment methods will assist issuers in crafting offers and messages that will capture the attention of these consumers.

This analysis will be conducted using the 5,000 cardholder interviews included in the core study and will provide breakdowns by a number of demographics including gender, age, and income.

6. CHINESE AND SOUTH ASIAN REPORT

Chinese and South Asian cardholders exhibit dramatically different attitudes and behaviours with respect to credit card ownership and reward program participation. This module will examine these differences in depth and identify the types of offers that will resonate best with these important and fast growing segments. Booster samples will be drawn to supplement the 5,000 interviews in the CardSense™ sample to provide readable bases for these

7. YOUNG ADULTS REPORT

Capturing the attention of young adults is an appealing proposition as issuers attempt to deepen their share of wallet and grow these relationships beyond credit cards and rewards.

This module will profile 18-28 year-old cardholders in depth to help you understand the attitudes and behaviours of this segment including the cards they carry and the financial institutions they use. This analysis will be drawn from the 5,000 interviews conducted in the CardSense™ core study.
